Liz is a 15-year-old girl from Wurzburg; Germany who is interested in knowing what life in America is really like. She is no stranger to hosting exchange students. Her family in Germany has hosted and her brother Tim was in the ATAD program in 2010. The experience was so good she now wants to partake! Liz describes herself as a very nice and helpful person. She considers herself very tolerant and outgoing and is certain she will be able to make new friends in America. Her teachers say she is well integrated in her studies and highly appreciated by her peers. She learns very quickly and adapts easily to new situations.

Her favorite classes are math and biology and she hopes to study International Business or a kind of engineering. She also has an interest in working in other countries to get that perfect international experience.

Liz loves to bake and cook, and she helps around the house by cooking some of their meals. She like dancing and singing and has joined the school chorus and jazz dancing group. She is also taking private dance lessons with a group of friends so they can learn the waltz. She balances school work with sports like badminton, gymnastics and swimming. She also has expressed an interest in volleyball and hopes to participate here.

Liz is described as a young girl mature beyond her years. She is ready for a one-year student exchange and is very excited about the exchange. She will be enrichment for any school as well as to her host family!
